UN Committee against Torture

APT submission on Kyrgyzstan

24 September 2013

Alternative report from the Association for the Prevention of Torture (APT) to the Committee against Torture providing background information and suggested questions and recommendations on torture prevention and the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against Torture (OPCAT) for Kyrgyzstan, whose 2nd periodic report will be reviewed by the Committee during its 51st session in Geneva.

The Association for the Prevention of Torture (APT) is an independent NGO based in Geneva, working for a world free from torture, where the rights and dignity of all persons deprived of liberty are respected.

To achieve this vision we:

- Promote transparency and monitoring of places of detention
- Advocate for legal and policy frameworks
- Strengthen capacities of torture prevention actors and facilitate exchanges
- Contribute to informed public policy debates

1. Key facts

OPCAT ratification: 29 December 2008

NPM designated: National Centre for the Prevention of Torture and Coordination Council for the Prevention of Torture

2. Background information

As a State party to the OPCAT, Kyrgyzstan has made positive progress in the establishment of a national preventive mechanism (NPM), and received the UN Subcommittee on Prevention of Torture (SPT) in September 2012.

The UN Special Rapporteur on Torture undertook a mission to Kyrgyzstan in December 2011, and the OHCHR have since drafted an Action Plan for the implementation of recommendations by the SRT. However, the level of progress is uncertain.

2.1. NPM establishment

Kyrgyzstan ratified the OPCAT on 29 December 2008, and has succeeded in developing a well thought-out vision of a NPM as well as a related law, which largely conforms to the provisions of the OPCAT.¹

The proposed NPM comprises a National Centre for the Prevention of Torture and a Coordination Council for the Prevention of Torture. While the latter will undertake the day-to-day preventive work of the NPM, the Coordination Council has the vitally important role of spearheading the NPM's advocacy and policy activities, as well as acting as its interface with the authorities.

From the NPM law it is apparent that the establishment, structure and functioning of the proposed NPM have been carefully thought through by its authors and much detail is provided in this respect. Encouragingly, as recommended by the SPT, the NPM model emerged as a result of exhaustive open, transparent and inclusive national discussions.

The law on the establishment of the NPM had its third and final reading in the Kyrgyz parliament on 8 June 2012. Thereafter, the signature of the president took place on 12 July 2012. Pursuant to that law, the Kyrgyz authorities had three months in order to recruit the staff and members of the future NPM and to set up the institution. Unfortunately, this process was hampered by several factors, not least owing to the collapse of the ruling government coalition in August 2012 and the absence of any earmarked funding in the budget for 2012.

Despite this initial lack of progress, there have been some positive developments in this respect in the first months of 2013. An important step forward was taken in the period February – April 2013, when the process of selecting the members of the Coordination Council for the Prevention of Torture was completed. This body comprises eight representatives of civil society, two parliamentarians and the country's Ombudsperson. The latter is automatically a member of the Coordination Council in order to ensure there is a meaningful coordination of the activities of the NHRI and the NPM.

On 18 February 2013, a joint national and international recruitment panel began examining applications from civil society to the 11-person Coordination Council for the Prevention of Torture. This process of recruiting the civil society representatives was finalised on 27 February when the civil society representatives were selected by the panel. The composition of the overall Coordination Council was completed on 9 April 2013 when the two parliamentarian members were nominated by their respective government and opposition factions.

The Coordination Council met for the first time on 16 April 2013 when it began the process of developing its internal rules of procedure, among other matters. It also elected a Chairperson and Deputy Chairperson and, crucially, initiated the process of recruiting the all-important position of Director of the other component of the NPM, the National Centre for the Prevention of Torture, which is a full-time position. This process was completed by 2 August 2013 when a former employee of the Ombudsperson's Office was recruited for the vacant position.

Regrettably, at the time of this submission the recruitment of the staff of the National Centre for the Prevention of Torture had not commenced owing to the absence of a budget for the NPM and office space to house staff. Nonetheless, in September 2013 the Coordination Council and Director of the National Centre wrote to the Kyrgyz Prime Minister, Jantoro Satybaldiev, with a view to trying to resolve this lack of resources and space.

It is hoped the process of recruitment of the staff of the National Centre for the Prevention of Torture will commence shortly after the resolution of these matters and that, once the NPM is in place, it will quickly begin its activities as the country's NPM.

A further notable OPCAT-related development in the country can be seen in the form of the visit of the SPT to Kyrgyzstan in September 2012. The SPT transmitted its confidential visit report to the Kyrgyz authorities in May 2013, which remains confidential at the time of writing.

2.2. The 2011 Visit of the Special Rapporteur on Torture to Kyrgyzstan

The much anticipated visit of the UN Special Rapporteur on Torture, Professor Juan Méndez, to Kyrgyzstan took place in December 2011 and the report of his visit became public in February 2012. As Kyrgyzstan was last examined by the UN Committee against Torture and the UN Human Rights Committee as long ago as 1999 and 2000 respectively, Professor Méndez' report represents an exceptionally important document. It was therefore deemed essential that there should be swift and systematic follow-up to these recommendations.

With this aim in mind, the APT, OHCHR's Regional Office in Central Asia, and a range of other international and domestic organisations organised a follow-up event on 21 May 2012 in Bishkek which focussed on Professor Méndez' recommendations. The timing of the event deliberately coincided with Professor Méndez' fact-finding mission to neighbouring Tajikistan in the same month, which enabled him to travel to Bishkek for the follow-up event.

The one-day round-table event was titled 'The Implementation of the Recommendations of the UN Special Rapporteur on Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment following his Mission from 5-13 December 2011, and other Human Rights Mechanisms for the Prevention and Combating of Torture'. It was designed to bring together an array of relevant national actors, including civil society, with a view to identifying key recommendations from Professor Méndez' report that could be acted upon in a given time frame, so as not to lose the impetus generated by the mission and its related report.

In the period running up to the round-table event OHCHR's Regional Office in Central Asia initiated the drafting of an Action Plan aimed at implementing the recommendations contained in the UNSRT's report as well as those which arose from Kyrgyzstan's Universal Periodic Review (UPR) in 2010. By convening a small group of national civil society experts, OHCHR created a draft Action Plan,² which outlined Professor Méndez' and the UPR recommendations, and identified the appropriate action which should be taken (and by whom) in order to implement them in practice. Several weeks prior to the event, the draft Action Plan was widely distributed among government and non-government actors for their comments. This Action Plan was subsequently used by the organisers of the 21 May 2012 round-table event as the basis of the day's discussion.

On the whole, the day's discussion was focussed, fluid and, with a few exceptions, generally constructive. For reasons of brevity this submission will not go into any further detail regarding the exchanges that took place on the day, although additional information could be provided upon request. Nonetheless, the event and the related Action Plan can be regarded as a useful first step aimed at acting on the UNSRT and UPR recommendations. The APT is informed that since the May 2012 event the Action Plan has continued to be employed by the Kyrgyz authorities and civil society as a working tool in joint fora with the aim of implementing the said recommendations. What is unclear at the time of writing, however, is the extent to which concrete progress has been achieved in this respect, a point which would merit further inquiry.
