20.—(1) It is not unfair discrimination in relation to any of the areas referred to in paragraphs (a) to (e) of section 19(3) if the prohibited ground of discrimination is a genuine occupational qualification.

(2) For the avoidance of doubt, adverse differentiation by reason of a prohibited ground of discrimination is a genuine occupational qualification where a position is for the purposes of an organised religion and the differentiation complies with the doctrines, rules or established customs of the religion.

Genuine justification

21. Adverse differentiation by reason of a prohibited ground of discrimination in relation to any of the areas referred to in paragraphs (f) to (j) of section 19(3) is not unfair discrimination if there is genuine justification for the differentiation.

Guidelines on genuine occupational qualification and genuine justification

22. Without limiting the Commission's power to issue guidelines on any other matter within its jurisdiction the Commission may, for the avoidance of acts and practices which might amount to unfair discrimination, from time to time issue non-binding guidelines on genuine occupational qualifications and genuine justification.

Social justice and affirmative action

23. A programme, whether provided by the Government or by the private sector, designed to achieve for any groups or categories of persons who are disadvantaged effective equality of access to the areas set out in section 19(3) is not unfair discrimination.

Victimisation

24. It is unfair discrimination for a person while involved in any of the areas set out in section 19(3) to victimise any other person on the ground that that person, or a relative or associate of that person—

- (a) intends to make use of his or her rights under this Decree or any other written law;
- (b) has made use of his or her rights, or promoted the rights of some other person, under this Decree or any other written law;

- (d) has declined to do any act which would contravene this Decree or any other written law; or
- (e) has otherwise done anything under or by reference to this Decree or any other written law.

Employment applications and advertisements

25.—(1) It is unfair discrimination—

- (a) to use or circulate any form of application, or to make any enquiry of or about any person seeking employment, which indicates, or could reasonably be understood as indicating, an intention directly or indirectly to differentiate adversely by reason of a prohibited ground of discrimination; or
- (b) to publish or display, or cause or allow to be published or displayed, any advertisement or notice which indicates, or could reasonably be understood as indicating, an intention to differentiate adversely by reason of a prohibited ground of discrimination.

(2) Subsection (1) does not affect the operation of sections 20, 21 and 23.

Liability of employers and principals

26.—(1) Subject to subsection (3), anything done or omitted by a person as an employee of another person is, for the purposes of this Decree, to be treated as done or omitted by the other person as well as by the first-mentioned person, whether or not it was done with that other person's knowledge or approval.

(2) Anything done or omitted by a person as the agent of another person is, for the purposes of this Decree, to be treated as done or omitted by that other person as well as by the first-mentioned person, unless it was done or omitted without that other person's express or implied authority, previous or subsequent.

(3) In proceedings under this Decree against any person in respect of an act alleged to have been done or omitted by an employee of that person, it is a defence for that person to prove that he or she took all steps reasonably practicable to prevent the employee from doing or omitting the act, or from doing or omitting as an employee of that person acts or omissions of that description.

PART 4—COMPLAINTS AND INVESTIGATIONS

Complaints about contravention of human rights

27.—(1) Any person may make a complaint to the Commission, including a representative complaint on behalf of other persons with a similar cause of complaint, about a contravention or alleged contravention of human rights.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Decree, the Commission shall not receive, nor shall it investigate on its own motion, any complaints questioning or challenging the legality or validity of the Fiji Constitution Amendment Act 1997 Revocation Decree 2009, or such other Decrees made or as may be made by the President.

Complaints about unlawful discrimination

28.—(1) Any person may make a complaint to the Commission, including a representative complaint on behalf of other persons with a similar cause of complaint, about unfair discrimination.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Decree, the Commission shall not receive, nor shall it investigate on its own motion, any complaints questioning or challenging the legality or validity of the Fiji Constitution Amendment Act 1997 Revocation Decree 2009, or such other Decrees made or as may be made by the President.

Discretion whether to investigate

29.—(1) The Commission must investigate any complaint received by it, unless before commencing or during the investigation it decides not to do so because—

- (a) the complaint is not within the jurisdiction of the Commission;

- (b) the complaint is trivial, frivolous, vexatious or not made in good faith
- (c) the complainant, or a person acting on his or her behalf, has brought proceedings relating to the same matter in a court or tribunal;
- (d) the complainant has available another remedy or channel of complaint that the complainant could reasonably be expected to use;
- (e) the complainant has not a sufficient interest in the complaint;
- (f) the person alleged to be aggrieved does not desire that the complaint be investigated;
- (g) the complaint has been delayed too long to justify an investigation;
- (h) the Commission has before it matters more worthy of its attention; or
- (i) the resources of the Commission are insufficient for adequate investigation, and may defer or discontinue an investigation for any of these reasons.

(2) No decision by the Commission to decline, defer or discontinue an investigation into a complaint affects the Commission's power to inquire generally into a matter of its own initiative.

Investigation of Commission's own motion

30. Subject to sections 27(2) and 28(2), the Commission may investigate of its own motion any act, omission, practice, requirement or condition which is or appears to be unfair discrimination or a contravention of human rights or which has been referred to it by the High Court.

Letters from prisoners or patients

31. A letter written by—

- (a) a person in custody; or
- (b) a patient in a hospital, and addressed to the Commission must be forwarded immediately, unopened and unaltered, to the Commission by the person in charge of the place or institution where the writer of the letter is detained or in which he or she is a patient.

Investigation procedure

32.—(1) Before investigating any matter within its jurisdiction, the Commission must inform—

- (a) the complainant (if any);
- (b) the person alleged to be aggrieved, if not the complainant;
- (c) the person to whom the investigation relates; and
- (d) in relation to an investigation relating to a department the person holding or performing the duties of the office of Secretary of the department , of the Commission's intention to make the investigation.

(2) An investigation under this Decree must be conducted in private.

(3) The Commission may hear or obtain information from any person whom the Commission considers can assist in the investigation and may make whatever enquiries it thinks fit.

(4) Nothing in this Decree requires the Commission to hold any hearing and no person is entitled as of right to be heard by the Commission.

(5) The Commission must not in any report make any comment that is adverse to or derogatory of any person to whom a complaint relates without—

- (a) providing the person with a reasonable opportunity of being heard; and
- (b) fairly setting out in the report the person's defence (if any).

(6) In conducting an investigation, the Commission is not bound by the strict rules of evidence or procedure, but must act fairly at all times.

Conciliation

33.—(1) The Commission may, before commencing an investigation, or during or after an investigation, call a conciliation conference of the parties to the conciliation by formally requesting, by post, telephone, facsimile, electronic mail or otherwise, the attendance of each party at a time and place specified.

(2) If a person fails to comply with a request made under subsection (1) the Commission may issue a summons requiring the person to attend a conciliation conference at a time and place specified in the summons.

(3) The objectives of a conciliation conference are to identify the matters at issue between the parties and to use the best endeavours of the Commission to secure a settlement between the parties on the matters at issue.

Power to require information to be provided

34.—(1) Subject to this section and to section 35, for the purposes of an investigation a Commissioner may, by notice in writing, require any person to furnish any information, or to produce any document, record or thing in the possession or under the control of that person that is in the opinion of the Commissioner relevant to the investigation.

(2) If a Commissioner has reason to believe that a person is able to give information relevant to an investigation, the Commissioner may, by notice in writing, require the person to attend before him or her, on a date and at the time and place specified in the notice, to answer questions relevant to the investigation.

(3) For the purposes of an investigation the Commission and a Commissioner have the same powers as a judge of the High Court in respect of the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents.

(4) A person is not excused from giving information, producing a document, record or thing or answering a question when required to do so pursuant to this Decree, if the only ground for refusal is that the giving of the information, the production of the document, record or thing or the answer to the question would contravene a provision of a written law, would be contrary to the public interest, or might tend to incriminate the person or make him or her liable to a penalty; Provided that the information, document, record, thing or answer is not admissible in evidence against the person in proceedings other than proceedings for an offence against section 49.

(5) Subject to section 35, a person is not excused from giving information, producing a document, record or thing or answering a question when required to do so pursuant to this Decree on the ground that the material is commercially sensitive.

(6) Except on the trial of any person for perjury in respect of his or her sworn or affirmed testimony, or proceedings for an offence against section 49, no statement made or answer given by that or any other person in the course of any inquiry by or proceedings before the Commission or a Commissioner is admissible in evidence against any person in any court or at any inquiry or other proceedings, and no evidence in respect of proceedings before the Commission or a Commissioner must be given against any person.

Disclosure of certain matters not to be required

35.—(1) If the Attorney General certifies that the disclosure of information concerning a specified matter (including the furnishing of information in answer to a question or the disclosure to the Commission or a Commissioner of the contents of a specified document or record or the production of a specified thing) would be contrary to the public interest because it would—

- (a) seriously harm the commercial interests of any person or body;
- (b) prejudice the security, defence or international relations of the State;
- (c) involve the disclosure of deliberations or decisions of the Cabinet or of a committee of the Cabinet; or
- (d) a claim of State privilege could be made in relation to the information concerned, the Commission or a Commissioner cannot require a person to give information concerning the matter, to answer questions concerning the matter or to produce the document, record or thing.

(2) The Commission must withhold publication of any written material which comes into its possession in the course of an investigation and which is the subject of a certificate by the Attorney General under subsection (1).

Procedure after investigation

36.—(1) After completing an investigation, the Commission must inform the parties of the result of the investigation and whether, in its opinion—

- (a) the complaint does not have substance, or cannot be established to have substance or, in relation to an investigation of the Commission’s own motion, that the matter ought not to be proceeded with; or
- (b) the complaint has substance or, in relation to an investigation of the Commission’s own motion, that the matter ought to be proceeded with.

(2) If the Commission is of the opinion that a complaint does not have substance, or cannot be established to have substance, but considers nonetheless that it may be possible to reach a settlement between any of the parties concerned, the Commission may act as a conciliator and use its best endeavours to reach a settlement of the complaint.

(3) If the Commission is of the opinion that a complaint does not have substance, or cannot be established to have substance, or if the Commission pursuant to section 29(1) decides not to investigate, or investigate further, a complaint, it must inform the complainant of the complainant’s right to bring civil proceedings before the High Court.

(4) If the Commission has investigated a complaint and is of the opinion that the complaint has substance, it must act as conciliator in relation to the complaint and use its best endeavours to effect a settlement in relation to the complaint.

(5) For the purposes of this section, “settlement” includes a satisfactory assurance by the person to whom a complaint or investigation relates against repetition of the conduct that was the subject-matter of the complaint or the investigation or against conduct of a similar kind.

(6) Whether or not it takes any of the actions referred to in subsections (2), (3) and (4), the Commission may—

- (a) advise the parties of their respective rights, including the complainant’s right to bring proceedings in the High Court;
- (b) refer the complaint and, if it considers appropriate, the result of the investigation to another competent authority;
- (c) make recommendations to the competent authority, proposing amendments to or reform of any laws, regulations or administrative provisions or practices which have created the difficulties or hardship encountered by the complainant or the aggrieved person;
- (d) recommend to the relevant authority, in respect of a person who in the opinion of the Commission has contravened human rights, either prosecution of the person or the taking of other action, and the authority must consider the recommendation, take such action as it deems appropriate and advise the Commission in due course of the action it has taken.

Functions of Proceedings Commissioner

37.—(1) The functions of the Proceedings Commissioner include—

- (a) in relation to a complaint or an investigation of the Commission’s own motion – deciding whether an application should be made for an order under section 42 and, if so, making the application;
- (b) in relation to a complaint resulting from a failure by a party to observe the terms of a settlement on a previous occasion – deciding whether to institute proceedings against the party and, if so, instituting the proceedings;
- (c) in relation to a complaint or an investigation of the Commission’s own motion, if it appears to the Proceedings Commissioner that a settlement has not been reached and that no action or further action by the Commission is likely to facilitate a settlement – deciding whether to institute proceedings against the person against whom the complaint was made or to whom the investigation related, and if so, instituting the proceedings.

(2) The Proceedings Commissioner must not institute proceedings against a person referred to in paragraph (b) or (c) of subsection (1) unless the Commissioner has given the person an opportunity to be heard.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Decree or any written law, the functions, powers and duties of the Proceedings Commissioner do not extend to receiving complaints against, or investigating, questioning or challenging, the legality or validity of the Fiji Constitution Amendment Act 1997 Revocation Decree 2009, or such other Decrees made or as may be made by the President.

Proceedings

38.—(1) Civil proceedings in the High Court lie at the suit of the Proceedings Commissioner against a person referred to in paragraph (b) or (c) of section 37(1) for unfair discrimination or a contravention of human rights; Provided however that no proceeding which seeks to question or challenge the legality or validity of the Fiji Constitution Amendment Act 1997 Revocation Decree 2009, or such other Decrees made or as may be made by the President, shall be brought by the Proceedings Commissioner.

(2) The Proceedings Commissioner may, under subsection (1), bring proceedings on behalf of a class of persons if the Commissioner considers that a person referred to in paragraph (b) or (c) of section 37(1) has engaged in unfair discrimination which affects that class or has contravened the human rights in relation to that class; Provided however that no proceeding which seeks to question or challenge the legality or validity of the Fiji Constitution Amendment Act 1997 Revocation Decree 2009, or such other Decrees made or as may be made by the President, shall be brought by the Proceedings Commissioner.

(3) If proceedings are commenced by the Proceedings Commissioner under subsection (1), neither the complainant (if any) nor the aggrieved person (if not the complainant) may be an original party to the proceedings, or, unless the High Court so orders, join or be joined in the proceedings.

(4) Notwithstanding subsection (1), the complainant (if any) or the aggrieved person (if not the complainant) may bring proceedings before the High Court if—

- (a) the Commission is of the opinion that the complaint does not have substance or cannot be established to have substance or that the matter ought not to be proceeded with;
- (b) the Commission pursuant to section 29(1) decides not to investigate, or to investigate further, a complaint; or
- (c) the Proceedings Commissioner would be entitled to bring proceedings but—
 - (i) agrees to the complainant, in the case of a complaint, or an aggrieved person, in relation to an investigation of the Commission's own motion, bringing proceedings; or
 - (ii) decides not to take proceedings.

Provided however that no proceeding which seeks to question or challenge the legality or validity of the Fiji Constitution Amendment Act 1997 Revocation Decree 2009, or such other Decrees made or as may be made by the President, shall be brought before the High Court.
