

1. Answer to the question about The implementation of the National HIV and AIDS Strategy for 2006-2015, coordinated by a high-level, multi-sectorial HIV and AIDS committee.

The governmental HIV and AIDS committee acted during the implementation of the National HIV and AIDS Strategy for 2006–2015. From the year 2013 all HIV/AIDS activities have been integrated into the application plan 2013–2016 of the National Health Plan 2009–2020 (NHP). This means that in 2016 the tasks of Governmental HIV and AIDS committee have been taken over by the NHP management committee. The management committee of the NHP consists of representatives of various ministries, whose tasks preferably include planning and implementation of the state budgeting strategy. Also, one representative of local governments and one representative of non-governmental organisations belongs to the management committee. If necessary, specialists and representatives of various fields may be engaged in the activity of the management committee. The task of the management committee is to plan particular activities for the next period of the NHP and financial means necessary to implement those. The above is based on an analysis of the results of the activities of previous periods, recommendations of the advisory body and objectives established by the government. Every member of the management body is responsible before the management body for organisation of the activities of his/her ministry or related group, achievement of the objectives in his/her field of administration and provision of information necessary for groups of experts for reporting on the development report.

The strategic general objective of the field in the NHP 2009–2020 is a longer health adjusted life expectancy by decreasing premature mortality and illnesses. The National Health Plan details five thematic fields concerning increasing of social cohesion and equal opportunities, ensuring healthy and safe development for children, shaping an environment supporting health, facilitation of healthy lifestyle and ensuring the sustainability of the health care system. Also the priorities, sub-objectives (strategic objectives) and sets of measures established for the fulfilment of the strategic field of the development plan have been presented by those thematic fields.

The activities in the National Health Plan include an objective to decrease the number of new HIV cases to 20 per 100,000 people by year 2015, and to prevent extension of the epidemic with the help of strategic activities (including keeping the share of pregnant women infected by HIV under 1% of all the pregnant women). Areas of activity to stop the spreading of the HIV epidemic and decrease the influence of the epidemic are the following: prevention activities among various target groups, HIV testing and counselling; prevention, treatment and welfare services aimed at people infected with HIV and with AIDS; surveillance, monitoring and evaluation and development of human and organisational resource. Data on HIV-related deaths and new infections is included with other data in the previous section.

2. Answer to the question about the formulation of the Penal Code amendment criminalising buying sex from victim of human trafficking.

§ 133¹. Support to human trafficking

(1) Transportation, delivery, escorting, acceptance, concealment or accommodation, or buying sex, without prior authorisation of a person placed in a situation specified in subsection 133 (1) of this Code, or aiding without prior authorisation his or her forced acts in any other way, is punishable by up to five years' imprisonment.

This is taken from the law proposal amending the Penal Code and we cannot say for sure the wording will be exactly the same after the process is finished, but it probably will be.
